If you want to continue being a successful organisation, you need three things: efficient processes, flexibility and innovative power. But how can you maintain these qualities in a structural way? That starts with reliable reporting and analysis. Business Intelligence (BI) gives you exactly that.

Unfortunately, creating and customising reports in SAP Business One is a time-consuming activity. This while the true strength of BI lies in providing rapid insight into your processes and KPIs. Would it not be great if there were a solution that could give you the right information at the right time, so you could always be sure of making the right decisions? This solution exists: Analytics4Business One from Ensior.

THE STORY BEHIND YOUR DATA

Analytics4Business One is a ready-to-use BI environment that integrates seamlessly with SAP Business One and is based on Microsoft Power BI (and possibly SSRS en Excel). This environment gives you instant insight into all processes within your organisation, such as the performance of your sales team, progress in your production department or the turnover rate of your creditors/debtors. You bring data to life, as it were, swiftly exposing any new patterns, distortions and opportunities.

HOW IT WORKS

Analytics4Business One combines information from different administrations and other sources, without time-consuming data extractions and error-prone processing. The solution gives every information area within your organisation its own 'cube', where data is structured in a well-organized way. This means the compiling of analyses, monthly reports and dashboards can be done in just a few clicks. When you want to know more about a specific trend or KPI within an analysis you simply zoom in on the details. Analytics4Business One means there are no more hidden processes. You are firmly in the driving seat and can change course as the situation dictates and before it is too late.
